TAYLORSPOINT, Ky. -- A water search and rescue team took to the water again this morning to search for a man who went missing after a tow boat accident.

Christopher McAllister has been missing for nearly a week.

The accident happened last Sunday afternoon when the high waters of the Ohio River swamped the boat he was in.

The other two men who were on the boat swam to shore. They were taken to the hospital where they were treated for hypothermia.

The search was stopped earlier this week because of the high water. On Saturday, crews had a new mission.

"We're going to start from where the tug went down, go from the tow boat downriver – follow where the currents have changed with the rising water," said Mike Fronimos, of the Hebron fire department.

find him fairly close – for the family's sake – we hope that we find him relatively quickly," said Fronimos.

The US Coast Guard, the Boone County Water Rescue Team, and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife participated in the search.
